DISTRICT COURT DOINGS

Cosgrove and Sparks Called Before the Jadge for Trial.

WANT THE CASE TO PROCEED

Arthur Fowler, the Man Who Assaulted the Chinese-Some Decisions Rendered-Legal Documents Filed.

BUTTE, Feb. 16,-When the cases against Cosgrove and Sparks were called for trial in the district court this morning. County Attorney Baldwin filed a physician's certificate, showing that ex-Officer Handley was still too ill to attend court and as he is one of the main witnesses in the robbery cases, another continuance was asked. Attorney Wines, who represents one of the defendants, objected to any further post-ponement of the cases, as the defendants have already been in jail many months and are entitled to a trial. "Judge" Keit hly wanted the trial to go because it had already been continued several times on the same grounds. The court settled the matter by saying that neither the court, lawyers nor jury could keep a man from getting sick, and as the defendants are charged with a grave offense, the people also have some rights in the matter, and the prisoners will not have an opportunity to get out of court simply because of the sickness of a material state witness. It is the court's prerogative to continue or postpone a case and the court meant to exercise that prerogative in this case. The defendants shall have a trial, and the question of their guilt or innocence thoroughly inquired into if the court has any say in the matter. The judge addressed himself to the attorneys for the defense with some feeling and a great deal of positiveness, and then continued the cases until next Tuesday, the 23rd. The physician attending Handley says the latter will be out by that time unless a relapse should set in, which was not probable. Officer Handley is the man who was knocked down by Sparks in attempting to run away, and the attorneys for the defendants said that if that was the only thing the state wanted to prove by the absent witness the defense was willing to admit it.

After disposing of the Cosgrove and Sparks cases court adjourned until tomorrow morning.

Arthur Fowler, the young man who shot at a Chinaman and created such a noise that it was heard by Pung kwang Yu at Washington and by the imperial Chinese consul at San Francisco, and echoed in the state department of the court the attachment cases of the Silver cases, another continuance was asked. Attorney Wines, who represents one of the have his trial in the morning. At least his case is set for trial at that time.

In Judge McHatton's department of the court the attachment cases of the Silver Bow National bank and Marchesseau & Valiton against H. H. Guthrie & Co., were called, and the default of defendant entered. Judgment was awarded in favor of the bank for $16.470.70 and costs, and for Marchesseau & Valiton for $500 and costs.

The default of defendant in the case of Bennett Bros. vs. Craddock Bros. was also entered and judgment given the plaintiffs.

The complaint in the case of the Butte & Boston company against the Kempers and the Butte Copper company, was amended in accordance with the agreement of counsel filed yesterday.

Legal Documents Filed.

The defendants in the case of the State vs. William Owsley et al. set forth in an answer that it is not their duty to make answer that it is not their duty to make a verified statement, showing the number of and giving the names of their employes liable to pay poil tax. They also deny that proper demand was made of them for the statement, as provided by law, by service upon them by a notice in writing, consequently they do not consider themselves liable to the state for $500. They also claim that they were not sworn or asked to take an oath as to the number of persons in their employ, but they acknowledge that some person, unknown to the defendants, has served a written notice on Mr. Owsley, but he did not read it and did not know what it was for.

Attorney Thompson Campbell, for the

It is proposed to stock the creamery and cheese plant for $3,000 at present, and add to as necessity requires; $1,000 of the stock has already been taken. The horse-car line will be built by a stock company composed of owners in Bellamy Place; $10,000 will build it. The slaughtering establishment will can and dry that part of the animal that does not find a ready market; a candle and soap factory will use the offal; bones will be made into fertilizers. RIS NAME WASN'T MUDD. How doe Equared Himself With the Court and Kept His Job. BUTTE, Feb. 16.—A good natured looking face, highly ornamented with freckles and a head covered with a generous growth of red hair, appeared on a level with Judge McMurphey's desk when the name of Joe Mudd was called by the city this afternoon. The attorney read a complaint which charged the owner of the dadoed face and flery hair with having been grossly intoxicated and then asked the grossly intoxicated and then asked the usual question of "guilty or not guilty."

"My name aint Joe Mudd." was the response, "but that makes no difference but I was drunk all right."

"I will impose the usual fine of $1 and costs," here interposed the court, "which will amount to $8,50. Can you pay it. Mr. Mudd?" The prisoner fingered his hat for a few moments and looking with a smile said, "What's the matter with standieg you off." I'm working in a mine and have got the money coming to me, and I'll settle as soon as I get it. I ain't got a cent with me, and if I'm locked up I'll lose my job."

cent with me, and if I'm locked up I'll lose my job."

"This is strictly a cash shop," said the judge, and I am very sorry that I can't accommodate you." Mr. Madd went below, but soon sent up word that if an officer would be detailed to go out with him be thought he could "rustle the money." Chief Leyden accommodatingly took the blonde gentleman to a store in Main street where he obtained the required amount and saved his job. It was the man's good nature and guileless manner that got him out of his scrape.

FIELDS OF PRE: IOUS STONES. Than Three Thousand Acres Claimed as Placer Ground.

BUTTE, Feb. 16. This was another great day for location notices on diamond fields Twenty of them were located, and all of them alleged to be rich in deposits of gold and precions stones. Oosoos, Cinnamon, Upaa, Wemasherce, Carbon, Ogallaly, Ochre, Hyacinth, Carat, Gautama, Om, Atavism and Lapidary, Some of the locators on the last named claims are J. M. Quinn, B. E. As soon as the snow is off the ground the owners of the great diamond field will go to work to demonstrate something. Some alleged precious stones have already been picked up, and when people examine them they generally look wise and say "that's the Summit valley mining district and up, and when people examine them they generally look wise and say "that's the stuff."

Dash attempted to pass in front of a cable car while it was crossing a trestle near Walkerville, but was not quick enough, and after the car had passed over him he was lying by the side of the track unable to get up. ## JUSTICE PLAYS A PART

Cases Wherein Punishment Works Hardships Upon Innocent Parties.

SENTENCE OF COURTEMARCH

Attorney Campbell Will Get a Good Fee-Fortunes and Misfortunes of Men-Pete Skelly Scandalized.

BUTTE, Feb. 16.-After Judge Pemberton had passed sentence upon Courtemarch, the forger, and when court had ad-journed, the judge expressed regret that the law did not give a court the discretionary power to pass or suspend sentence in such cases. He thought that in a case like that of Courtemarch, where the innocent —the wife and three small children—suffer most from the punishment of the hus-hand who committed a minor crime, jus-tice would gain if the court had the power to sentence the man for about 10 years in the penitentiary, and then suspend sen-tence during good behavior. A man who is not a thoroughly hardened criminal would most likely try to lead a better life and avoid running up against a term of 10 years in the penitentiary. With such a provision a man's whole life would not have to be wrecked and his family dis-graced by one comparatively small act of indiscretion, and by which no one is in-jured beyond the extent of a few dollars. A law of that nature would make good citizens of a large number of men who otherwise give themselves up to a life of erime. fer most from the punishment of the hus

Attorney C. L. Campbell is something of a lucky man himself when it comes down to falling heir to a fortune, that is if the promise of William Bradiey, which he made in a moment of rashness, holds good. When Bradley first heard of his aunt's fatal illness, and learned that he was to come in for some share of the property, he asked Mr. Campbell to look into the matter and take care of the business. If anything came out of it Bradley promised the attorney 10 per cent. of the whole amount. Mr. Campbell at first did not take much stock in the great expectations of Bradley, but he wrote a letter of inquiry to Attorney Temple of Chillicothe, a former fellow law student. It was only a few days later that the chief of police received a letter, inquiring after Bradley. good. When Bradley first heard of his a few days later that the chief of police re-ceived a letter, inquiring after Bradley, and announcing his good fortune, the amount of which was then estimated at $250,000. When Mr. Campbell received a reply to his letter from the Chillicothe at-torney the amount was given as at least $1,000,000, and that Bradley was sole heir. Ten per cent, of $1,000,000 is nothing very small in itself.

Pete Skelly thinks be has been most awfully slandered, and says his wife is awfully slandered, and says his wife is now willing to go on record as saying he did not shoot at her when she returned from "The Devil's Auction," although she did say so in her complaint made in police court. "She was so excited," said Pete, "that she didn't know what she was saying, and that is why she withdrew the case in court yesterday. The police asked her if I shot at her, and that is why she said I did. L'outrage, and I want it retracted." That is what Pete said this morning, and upon the unqualified showing made by him, it is very evident that somebody should tender him an apology.

In the district court room this morning a number of attorneys were talking about the fortunes and misfortunes of man generally and some of their acquaintances in erain and some of their acquaintances in particular. "At 30," put in Judge Wal-dron, "a man finds that he has been a fool all his life, and at 40 he makes up his mind to reform. At 60, when he is in a fair way toward reformation, he dies," The judge has probably reached that pe-riod of life where reform appears to be the proper thing. the proper thing.
